Active ingredient Sunitinib (50 mg)

Sunitinib is a substance responsible for inhibiting a group of therosine kinases, which transmit signals to groups of cells that create new blood vessels for tumors. According to the mechanism of action, sunitinib is a blocker of vascular cell growth factor. Due to its effect on platelet growth factor receptors and vascular endothelial growth factor receptors, the active agent blocks the nutritional process of a cancer, which leads to a decrease in its vascularization and to the gradual death of both individual cancer cells and the entire focus of the disease. Contained in the Sutinat preparation, Sunitinib Malate is used for the treatment of renal carcinoma, gastrointestinal stromal tumors and some other types of oncological diseases.
